Inquiry Ordered Into 'Back Door' Liquor Sales Here

CHARGE AIRED BY SUSPENDED STORE CLERK

Mansfield Store Manager Denies Favored Persons Get Best Brands.

By PHILIP GREENE

Charges that back door sales of the best brands of liquor have been made to favored persons at the Mansfield retail liquor store will be investigated immediately, Ralph Dombey, assistant liquor director, told the News-Journal today in a telephone interview.

The charges were made by Joseph Letizia, store employe recently given a 30-day disciplinary suspension which he termed a "political trick" to oust him from his job.

"I haven't heard of any back door sales since we've been in office, but the situation will be investigated at once. We try to stop such actions as soon as we hear of them," Dombey said.

* * *

'Nothing to It.'

William Thull, manager of the store, flatly denied that "cheat sales" at the rear door of the establishment had occurred.

"There is absolutely nothing to it," he said.

Letizia levelled his blast at the department, and particularly at Harry E Hawley, of Mansfield, administrative assistant in charge of store leases and recently resigned clerk of the Richland county board of elections.

* * *

Hawley In Denial.

Dombey told the News-Journal that Letizia's suspension was ordered on a charge of intoxication while on duty. He said the suspension was recommended by Hawley and Roy Cornell, store supervisor in the Mansfield area.

Later, Hawley, in a telephone conversation with the News-Journal, denied that an "intoxication" charge was filed against Letizia

Hawley said "the department can give a suspension whenever it sees fit and then make its investigation and file charges." No charges have yet been filed against Letizia, he said He added that he did not know when a charge would be made Filing of charges is a responsibility of Dombey, Hawley asserted

"It's a political trick to get my job," Letizia said.

WASHINGTON —(AP)— The state department put a "finished business" label today on an exchange of diplomatic notes with Russia in which Secretary Marshall firmly rejected a Soviet protest over remarks of Undersecretary Acheson

Marshall's reply to the Russian contention that Acheson's remarks to a senate committee were "slanderous and hostile" was handed to Foreign Minister Molotov in Moscow yesterday. It said that Acheson, in telling the senate atomic committee that Russia's foreign policy is "aggressive and expanding" was speaking in "the line of duty"

The statement was not volunteered, Marshall said, but was in response to specific questions by a member of the senate regarding Russia's territorial ambitions and how they might be developed by possession of atomic bomb secrets.

"You are thoroughly familiar with the constitutional system of this nation," Marshall told Molotov, "including the separation of powers between the legislative and executive branches of this government

"In accordance with our system an officer of the executive branch, called before a committee of the legislative branch, is under a duty to answer frankly relevant questions not involving a matter of secrecy incompatible with the public interest Such an exception did not exist here.

"The action of the undersecretary, therefore, in answering questions frankly and in accordance with his conscience can not be described as inadmissible, but was rather in line of duty.

"You characterize the content of his statement as a rude slander and hostile to the Soviet Union. Under our standards, a restrained comment on a matter of public policy is not a slander Therefore, I know that on second thought you will not attribute hostility to frankness."

Hospital Room Rates Boosted 50 Cents Daily

New rates at General hospital, boosting charges an average of 50 cents per day per room, have been placed in effect and are expected to get the official approval of the hospital board at a meeting tonight.

Dr. A. O. Fonkalsrud, superintendent of the hospital, said the meeting was scheduled for 7:30 p. m. today at the hospital

Fonkalsrud said that rates at the hospital now range from $6 to $10 per day, depending upon whether the patient is paying for a single or double room or a bed in a ward.

While the all-around increase amounted to 50 cents per day, one or two rooms, affording special facilities, were reported up $1.

The rate increase is the first in three years, Fonkalsrud said.

The increase was necessary to meet the rising cost of all hospital expenses, he said. Entire operation of the hospital, including salaries, must come from the fees paid by patients.

"Our rates are still lower than many other hospitals of similar size and having similar equipment," he said.

Nurses' pay was boosted several weeks ago to $185 for regular nurses and $225 for those having special duties These figures do not include head nurses and instructors whose pay is "considerably higher," Fonkalsrud said.

FREIGHT CAR NEED CRITICAL, DECLARES REED

Senator Calls Shortage Most Serious Threat Faced By U. S. Industry.

WASHINGTON — (INS) — Sen. Reed (R., Kan.) declared today that the present acute shortage of freight cars is the most serious threat now facing American industry.

Reed, chairman of a senate interstate commerce sub-committee investigating the freight car crisis, blamed the steel industry for the lack of railway equipment in which to haul materials vital to the nation's economy. He said:

"The answer to the problem is more freight cars. It is up to the steel industry to supply the steel for those cars. So far, the industry has shown too little interest in making that steel available."

The senator said that a round-table conference has been scheduled by his subcommittee for Feb. 27, at which railroad, steel, and government spokesmen will be heard.

Hopes for Solution.

Reed, who pointed out that government allocations of steel expire March 31, said he is hopeful that a solution can be worked out at the coming conference. Meantime, he is conducting almost daily hearings reflecting the effect of the shortage throughout the country.

Government officials and railroad men alike agree that there must be a tremendous boost in freight car production if industry is to be maintained on an even keel.

Col. J. M. Johnson, director of the Office of Defense Transportation, told the Reed subcommittee:

"The lack of railroad cars is more acute than it has been in the last six or seven years Unless, and at once, heroic measures are taken to compel new cars on our railroad tracks, this nation will be further slowed down in its commercial and economic activities.

"If there is another big wheat crop this year it will be more troublesome and more unsatisfactory than the movement of the present crop"

Losing 5,500 Daily.

ODT officials said freight cars are being discarded as worn out at the rate of 5,500 a month. Production is estimated at 3,000 a month. Thus there is a daily net loss of more than 80 cars.

American users of Canadian newsprint are particularly hard hit by the shortage

Canada gave grain movements top box car priority because she was falling behind on relief shipments required by the international emergency food council

China's UNRRA Goods Wasted, Say Officials

SHANGHAI—(UP)—UNRRA authorities charged today that 45 per cent of the UNRRA supplies sent to China were still in warehouses, rusting or rotting because Chinese officials failed to distribute them.

"Scarcely any relief supplies such as food, medicine and clothing has gone to the destitute," one UNRRA official said. "They either have been sold or held in storage against the day UNRRA observers are withdrawn."

Honest Admission.

He said that the Chinese request for permission to sell UNRRA goods on the black market "at least has the merit of the honest admission that UNRRA supplies are going to be used as a political tool."

"From all indications, Generalissimo Chiang Kai-shek can not beat the UNRRA plowshares into swords quickly enough and now is asking supplies which directly serve the purpose," the UNRRA official said.

Authoritative UNRRA sources said that China was unable to absorb the agricultural and industrial implements already received from UNRRA. This, they said, was one reason China requested cancellation of the agricultural and industrial rehabilitation programs

Machinery Rusting.

"Large quantities of machinery and equipment are rusting in various parts of China now," one official said. "China has made much of the claims that she has stepped up distribution since UNRRA supplies were cut off last year due to lack of distribution

"What actually has happened is the supplies have been shunted out of Shanghai to other port cities, only to rot elsewhere. It is conservatively estimated that 45 per cent of all UNRRA supplies are now rotting or rusting in warehouses or in open lots out of sight of Shanghai"

$215,070 DUE ON TAX CHARGE

Richland countians have until 4 p m Thursday to pay the remaining $215,070 due in real estate taxes, Charles Payne, county treasurer, said today. He added that there will be no extension of the tax payment deadline.

Yesterday's collection of $19,248 brought the total to $701,880 as compared with the $604,049 figure for the corresponding day last year. The first half tax charge amounts to $916,950.

With payments ahead of last year Payne said he expects most of the charge to be collected by tomorrow's deadline. Of the total half-year assessment, $60,000 is in delinquent taxes.

Monday's collections of $117 899 made the day the biggest in Payne's six years in office, he said

The county's total tax bill this year is $1,773,478, $262,000 higher than last year's and the largest since the early 1930's After tomorrow, penalties ranging up to 10 per cent will be imposed.

Mam, Mum 35 Years, Now Talks

BRIDGEPORT—(AP)—Al Burk, 82, lost his voice 35 years ago following a train accident. He regained it yesterday following his first illness since the mishap.

Burk related he was sitting in a rocking chair alone in his apartment when a "something just told me to try it to speak"

"I discovered," he asserted, "that my voice was there.

"First I looked around to see who was talking"

* * *

HIS DAUGHTER-IN-LAW, Mrs. Ada Burk, came to visit him a few minutes later

"He looked as though he had been crying. He just stood there, motioning mine to a chair," Mrs Burk said.

"Then in a voice I did not recognize he said

"'I have a surprise for you'."

Burk in 1911 was an engineer for the old C. G. & W. railroad (now the B. & Baltimore & Ohio).

He recalled that his locomotive was pulling an extra heavy load of coal up a steep grade near Flushing, O.

"All of a sudden," he said, "my engine stalled inside a tunnel. The load had been too much. The exhaust from the stack began pouring back into the cab and I began to smother That was the last I remember."

After he was rescued, he found that his vocal cords had been paralyzed.

Burk for eight years served as a councilman here.

SENATORS TRIM BUDGET SLASH

WASHINGTON —(AP)— Senate Republicans lined up today behind a trimmed-down $4,500,000,000 slash in President Truman's $37,500,000,000 budget, even if it imperils the GOP plan to cut income taxes 20 percent.

The decision to abandon the $6,000,000,000 reduction recommended by the senate-house budget committee came on a 22 to 19 vote at a closed-door conference of Republican senators.

The outcome was not binding on individual members, but as the issue came up for debate today there seemed little doubt the lesser figure would be adopted with almost solidid Democratic backing.

The house which will vote on the question tomorrow, appeared certain to stick with the $6,000,000,000 cut. There was talk that the result may be a $5,000,000,000 compromise between the two chambers.

Senators emerging from the Republican conference told reporters pleas by the armed forces that the budget committee's plan would jeopardize national security weighed heavily in the voting.

Chairman Gurney (R-SD), of the senate armed services committee had declared the big cut would cost the army and navy $2,500,000,000 of the $11,200,000,000 Mr Truman recommended. Other estimates had ranged down to $1 750 000,000, but even that much, war and navy department spokesmen contended, would endanger defense needs.

'BRING GREEN FOR PARLEY,' HE REQUESTS

CIO Leader Tells Senators He's Ready to Eliminate Jurisdictional Strikes.

WASHINGTON — (UP) — CIO President Philip Murray asked the senate labor committee today to help him and AFL President William Green work out an agreement for settling jurisdictional disputes.

Murray made the proposal in testimony protesting against pending legislation which he said was designed to "shackle" organized labor. That statement prompted Sen. Wayne L Morse (R-Ore), to ask Murray if he opposed all legislation to correct labor "abuses" Morse named the jurisdictional strike as such an abuse.

Murray said there was "no moral justification" for jurisdictional disputes which threw men out of work. He said he would offer a "reasonable plan" for settlement of such disputes.

"Have your committee send for Mr. Green of the AFL," Murray suggested. "Bring him down here and let him and me work out any agreement in your presence. I'm prepared to do it."

* * *

Includes All Disputes.

Morse was asked if he meant just disputes between the AFL and CIO. He said he meant all jurisdictional disputes, including those between affiliates of the same parent organization.

When Sen. Allen J. Ellender (D-La.) asked why the two labor leaders should not undertake to make an agreement without the committee, Murray replied that he had tried to get together with the AFL on the issues.

"Get Willie Green down here and ask him if he is prepared to sit down with Phil Murray of the CIO" Murray continued. "Let's work out an agreement to settle that right here."

"I'd like to see it tried," Morse said.

Murray's proposal was made after he warned the committee that congress would thrust the nation toward economic "catastrophe" if it attempted to weaken unions instead of business monopoly.

The silver-haired labor leader, who is also president of the United Steelworkers union, took a different tack than that used by Green yesterday in his testimony before the committee.

Murray concentrated his attack on current economic trends rather than a section by section criticism of labor bills as made by Green.

AVC HERE VOTES FOR VET BONUS

The first 51 Mansfield members of the American Veterans Committee who responded to a postal card poll on the question of a state bonus for World War II veterans voted 46 to 5 in favor of such a bonus.

Results of the poll so far were reported at a meeting of the AVC last night The questionnaire postal cards were mailed to 200 members

Five members opposed a bonus "regardless of how financed" Fourteen desired a bonus "regardless of how financed." Thirty-two favored a state bonus financed "by taxing those best able to pay and from state surplus funds."

* * *

Sent to State Council.

The result of this vote will be sent to the AVC state council, so that the Ohio AVC can take a stand for or against the bonus.

AVC also instructed its delegates to the Richland Joint Veterans commission of Richland county to ask that group to investigate the possibilities of obtaining the remaining county housing funds for renting and converting to apartments some of the partially vacant dwellings in the county.

Grant Auxiliary Request.

The chapter also voted to allow the AVC auxiliary to meet in the post rooms as the result of a letter from that body petitioning this favor.

The meeting closed with an appeal to members to support National Brotherhood week. Spokesmen pointed out that the week is in keeping with the AVC credo of racial and religious tolerance.

Death Toll In Red Arrow Wreck Reaches 25

ALTOONA, Pa —(AP)—A heap of twisted metal scattered over a desolate mountainside was all that remained today of part of the Pennsylvania railroad's flyer, the 'Red Arrow' which yesterday plunged over a 150-foot embankment, killing 25 persons and injuring 141 others

An investigation of the wreck, one of the worst in railroad history, was started by the interstate commerce commission, the Pennsylvania public utility and the railroad

Five of the dead still were unidentified two of the bodies mangled beyond recognition.

The dead included 16 passengers, six railway mail clerks and three members of the crew—an engineer and two firemen

Many of the injured lay in critical condition at Altoona's two hospitals Some were expected to die

Cause Unknown.

Nobody knew what caused the 14-car passenger train, enroute from Detroit to New York, to leave the rails as it headed into Bennington Curve, two miles west of the "horseshoe curve," in the pre-dawn darkness.

Its sleeping passengers describe only a "series of bumps" before the crash.

The train, running 50 minutes late, was gaining velocity on a down grade as it emerged from the Gallitzen tunnel into the curve. A railroad spokesman said the speed limit around the horseshoe curve is 19 mph

Five cars toppled into the gully with the locomotives which lay on their sides, half buried in packed snow and roadbed fill. A mail car, a combination baggage-passenger, day coach and two sleepers were sprawled in the gully below.

A diner and two sleepers were derailed and tossed on their sides. Another sleeper teetered half over the edge of the slope. Two other sleepers were derailed and three cars remained on the tracks.

Rescue workers, forced to descend the steep slope with the aid of ropes, used acetylene torches to reach the bodies One mangled victim was found standing on his head wedged between two smashed doors A member of a midget troupe lay under a coach seat, her head crushed There were numerous stories of heroism.

The tracks were cleared early last night and east and westbound traffic was proceeding normally.

MERCURY SKIDS TO 8 DEGREES

A new cold wave struck Mansfield last night, plunging the mercury here to eight degrees, but sunny skies and the absence of strong winds made the onslaught not too unpleasant

Bright sunshine brought the temperature up to 20 at noon, but the weatherman warned that the thermometer was scheduled to take another dip tonight.

Some warming up was forecast for tomorrow afternoon, and cloudy skies may bring snow to the Mansfield area.

Mansfield was the second coldest spot in the state last night Toledo won the dubious honor with a low of five above The high at Hayesville yesterday was 31.

FREDERICK C. OTHMAN

Doesn't Add Up Right

WASHINGTON — (UP) — This government has a big wad of my money — and yours — which it seems to keep in a gunny sack back of the garage.

Every time it starts to count same, it gets a different answer, account of the high winds, maybe, or a busted gear in the official adding machine. It's enough to give a taxpayer the willies. And bed him down with a fiscal fever. Listen:

The house of representatives claims the OPA is a bedlam of bureaucrats, wallowing in greenbacks. Instead of giving the rent, rice and sugar controllers the $6,000,000 they asked for, the lawmakers voted to give 'em nothing. And take $9,000,000 away from 'em.

Even so, said Rep. John Taber of New York, the OPAmen had $18,000,000 left.

"Which is enough for them to do their job better than before, if they'll develop a little honesty down there," added Economy John, the chairman of the appropriations committee.

* * *

THE OPA let out a shriek. Said it had only $16,000,000 left in the sock, which it was saving for closing-down purposes. Its bookkeepers said they were trying to hang on to it all for moving out the furniture, paying the rent on its offices across the land, and giving its 13,000 workers their final wages.

Take $9,000,000 away, as voted by the house, and the OPA would be a worse bankrupt than Ponzi, a federal agency which couldn't pay its debts, much less do any of its work, its spokesmen insisted.

Fiddle-faddle, said the white-haired Taber. He said the Washington office of the OPA had more high-paid generals than privates to do the work. He charged that it had hired nearly 1,000 extra rent controllers in the last six months when it was supposed to be firing them, and that in general the management was crooked.

He used the word "dishonest." He assailed OPA accounting and accountants, mentioned the testimony of its head men before his committee and told of a letter the agency had sent to the Democrats in a last minute effort to forestall the slash.

"Now they come here with statements indicating they are spending money at just twice the rate they told us they did a week ago," he roared. "I do not believe a word of their statements before our committee, or a word in the letter they sent up here."

* * *

WITH THAT, Taber sat down. Democratic leaders made a vain effort to salvage something for perhaps the most controversial of all President Roosevelt's wartime agencies. When sugar goes up in price 40 or 50 cents a pound, said Rep. John W. McCormack of Mass., the people would blame the congressional economizers.

"And when rents get out of hand, they also will blame the Republican party," he should.

The Republicans shouted back. Pretty soon McCormack and Charles A. Halleck, the GOP leader from Indiana, were bowling, red-faced. The speaker's gavel beat a heavy tattoo and through the racket came such words as "alibi," "drivel," and "ridiculous."

The great majority of congressmen agreed then by their vote on the urgent deficiency appropriation bill that Taber's adding machine worked better than the OPA's. The bill now goes to the senate, where nobody much loves the OPA, either. What happens to rent control I wouldn't know; what happens to our money in the gunny sack seems to be the subject of a pecuniary controversy. I am an unhappy taxpayer today.

WESTBROOK PEGLER

Arizona Overcrowded

WHILE I AM on the subject of Tucson and the nice, warm-winter part of Arizona, I think I should tell you that if you have been thinking of coming here for a vacation it would be a good idea to change your mind, unless you have confirmed reservations for a place to stay. The desert weather is beautiful, all right, and the flowers are beginning to sprout now, but the hotels and ranches are jammed and the sign "no vacancies" hangs out of most of the clusters of roadside cottages called motels.

The rates are high, too, but probably a little cheaper than the rates for similar accommodations in Florida, but we haven't had anything like the development that Florida had built and operating before the war closed down on buildings and there has been no catching up since.

Meanwhile, however, Arizona had a tremendous publicity. Probably many of the soldiers who trained here, both for desert fighting in Africa and in the air, hope they never see Arizona again, but many liked it and have moved back with their families, some of them to live in trailers, others in little houses. Then we had a lot of people working on war jobs who either stayed on or drifted back and, of course, there is a good deal of carriage trade here strictly on vacation.

Anyway, housing is tight and expensive and there is an element of more or less sick people, T. B. patients, arthritics, asthmatics and cardiacs, or the parents of invalid children who have to stay here and support themselves, and that doesn't help wages. Domestic servants can get as much as $40 a week and the usual room and board, but a bus driver doesn't do much better, with rent and groceries to pay for.

THIS GENERALITY is going to get me into trouble, I suppose, but the story of the vacation hotel and the dude ranch often is just the same old story that has been told for generations in the funny papers about beautiful Mosquito lodge in the northern resort areas. The big, first class hotels are fine, but that wouldn't interest you because you can't get in anyway.

But if you take a chance on a dude ranch you had better have a solid understanding first as to whether they have enough help, and not come down here to listen to hard-luck stories about the wrangler getting drunk and fighting out for California just the day before you got here, so would you mind entering into the spirit of the thing and chambermaiding your own steed? Or, the cook she got plastered on the vanilla extract and we are whipping our own eggs and policing our own dishes for a few days. You know, roughing it.

It is a too frequent experience when you are coming down for a rest and not to have your host hop in your lap and bawl about his disagreement with the landlord who won't repair the pump, so they can't fill the swimming pool. You don't want to travel 1,000 or 2,000 miles for that and waste your vacation besides.

If you know anyone with a lot of money who would like to put up a half dozen or more good cottage settlements of the ranch type out in the real desert, or hotels in town, send him down, but if you just land here yourself without reservations you are pretty likely to wind up on a bench in the park or the Southern Pacific station. Don't say I didn't warn you.

STATE HUNTS LIQUOR STORE SITE IN CITY

Lease on North Main Building To Expire in April.

A new site for Mansfield's wholesale liquor store, which would be turned into a combined retail-wholesale liquor outlet, is being sought by the state department of liquor control, the News-Journal learned today.

Harry E. Hawley, the liquor department's administrative assistant in charge of store leases, said the state will need a new store after April 22 when the lease on the wholesale store at 229 North Main street expires.

"The owners want the property for other uses. So far we have been unable to find a new location," Hawley, former clerk of the board of elections here, said.

Keep Downtown Store.

Search for a new store which would serve both wholesale and retail purchasers does not mean, however, that the present retail establishment at 24 South Park street will be abandoned, Hawley said.

"The store on South Park street has created some traffic problems in the city. We would like to drain some of the traffic away by making the new store a combined wholesale-retail place," Hawley said.

The property at 229 North Main street has been leased by the state liquor department for the past five years at a rental of $100 per month, Hawley reported. He said the owners are Justine C. Sterkel, Helen Scholl Sterkel, Martha Scholl and Anna Scholl.

SCHOOL GROUPS HEAR EISAMAN

A joint meeting of the John Simpson Parent-Teacher association and the Music Booster club will be held Thursday at 7:30 p. m. in the school cafeteria.

John H. Eisaman, clerk of the Mansfield board of education, will address the group. His subject will be "Selling Education."

A musical program will feature the ninth grade Boys' ensemble under the direction of A. LeMoine Derr, director of vocal music in the public schools. Trumpet solos by Janet Miller and Jack Dillon will be introduced by Miss Gladys Arnholt, instrumental music instructor at Simpson.

Business considerations for each group will be conducted by the respective presidents, Daniel Dech of the P-TA, and C. L. Green of the Music Booster club. Following the business meetings, a reception will be held, climaxing the recent P-TA membership drive, and refreshments will be served.

All members of both organizations and school parents are invited to attend.

Those in attendance agreed that more of the same type of discussions should be held throughout the area.

PASTOR CONCERT TICKETS READY

Tickets will go on sale Thursday for the Elizabeth Pastor piano concert, to be sponsored by the Mansfield Business and Professional Women's glee club March 23.

Mrs. Falsom Teeters, general chairman of concert arrangements, said tickets may be obtained at Maxwell's; O'Neil's; the H. L. Reed company, Smart's Studio; Richland Trust company, Mrs. Margaret Hall's studio, Richland Electric company, and Jones Furniture store.

Among Miss Pastor's own works, for which she has gained recognition, is her "Christmas Carol." It won the Cleveland Children's orchestra prize.

A graduate of the noted Longy School of Music in Boston, Miss Pastor has also been a pupil of Boris Goldovsky. She received her artist's diploma from the Boston school in 1944 at the age of 18.

MEMORY EXPERT ENTERTAINS CLUB

A convincing exhibition of memory training highlighted the program at last night's "ladies night" party of the Rotary club, held at the Mansfield-Leland hotel.

The entertainer was Dr. Bruno Furst, native of Czechoslovakia, writer and educator, who now conducts classes in memory development in New York City. His demonstration of ability to memorize facts and figures provided interesting entertainment, as did also his experiments in telepathy.

The dinner program included accordion numbers by Miss Shirley Lay, dances by little Susan Schwaner, and group singing directed by Louis Schaefer, with Earl Black as piano accompanist.

Edward Sutter was program chairman of the meeting, assisted by Mrs. Sutter. Others on the special committee were: Mr. and Mrs. Louis Schaefer, Mr. and Mrs. William Mabee, Mr. and Mrs. Harry Hollingsworth and Mr. and Mrs. Earl Black. Several Rotarians assisted Dr. Furst in presentation of his part of the program.

City's New Naval Reserve Division Gets First Pay

Last night was first pay night for members of Mansfield's Division 195, organized naval reserve.

Twenty-two men lined up in front of the paymaster at the division's drill in the Memorial building. For one drill they received a total of $116.51. This is equal to one-thirtieth of each man's base pay for one month, Lt. Cmdr. A. E. Heiser, director of the naval reserve program here said.

"When the division is fully organized the payroll of the 200 enlisted men and 13 officers will average $60,000 a year," Heiser said. The men will drill 48 times during the year.

The division, organized on Dec. 17, 1946, drills each Tuesday night for two hours. Men receive one day's pay for this drill. The division will utilize the facilities of the navy's proposed $300,000 armory soon to be constructed.

Organized reserve training also includes 14-day cruises to distant ports at some time during each year.

Confer Today on Temporary Suspension of Lake Work

City officials were to confer with Contractor Roger J. Au today to determine whether he will suspend temporarily construction of Mansfield's Clear Fork dam.

Meanwhile state, city and county officials were to inspect sections of State Route 545 in the Clear Fork reservoir area.

Engineers report that about two miles of the route will be under water once the reservoir is filled. The inspection trip is being made to map preliminary plans for relocating the road.

Mayor Roy W. Vaughn said that he and Service-Safety Director E. L. Morgan would discuss the work suspension question with Au during a visit to the dam site.

Au may suspend construction for 60 days because of ground and weather conditions. Main aim in stopping work now, Vaughn said, would be to save the city inspection costs.

At the invitation of County Engineer Walter E. Rusk, three state highway engineers, three city officials, and a deputy county engineer, were to inspect the state route site.

They include, besides Rusk, Vaughn and Morgan, C. Homer Bricker, division engineer of Division Three, state highway department; City Engineer W. S. Statler, Deputy County Engineer Don L. Borchardt and two assistant engineers from Division Three.

Rusk estimates that about a mile and three-quarters of the route will be flooded. The reservoir is expected to be filled sometime late next year.

The condition of Norman Pore, 21, of 313 Superior street, who was driving the car when it crashed into a trailer, was described as "very good" by a physician at Bedford hospital, Bedford. He said that Pore would be discharged in a few days.

Woman Held In Shooting

A 23-year-old North Main street woman was held for investigation today in connection with the shooting last night of Louis Adway, 45, of 222½ North Main street.

Adway was released after treatment at General hospital for a gunshot wound through the left ear. Police said his ear was pierced by a .38 caliber bullet.

The shooting occurred about 7:30 p. m., in the Demo club, 305 North Main street, following an argument between the pair, police said.

The revolver was recovered in the woman's rooms, and police said they also found the fired shell in the vestibule of the Demo club.

Up and Down The Street

REASON TO DOUBT—

Gerald D. Russell, British representative of the Ohio Brass company whose story of the "Red Arrow" wreck appeared on the front page of the N-J yesterday, probably wonders now whether he made a right decision a few months ago. According to L. J. Ott, jr., an O-B executive, Russell served in the British army during the late war and did quite a bit of flying. When the war was over, Ott said, Russell vowed he would never ride in an airplane again. Russell was among the passengers slightly injured yesterday when the Pennsylvania railroad's "Red Arrow" jumped the tracks and crashed while he was riding in the fourth coach.

EARLY SPRING—

Mansfield Garden clubs have brought springtime to the Public library! Forced branches of peach, pussy willow, forsythia, cherry and larch are showing half-opened blossoms as the combination of water and the warm room hurries them along. These branches may be seen in the downstairs. Upstairs, in the Garden Center room, is a beautiful table centerpiece. It is fashioned of half-opened pussy willow branches, standing upright in a white birch holder. At the base are silvery white, paper-thin, oval seed pods of the Honesty plant.

'BLOOMING COTTON'—

Mansfield residents with a southern background received something of a hint of "down south" today because of a neighborhood snowball battle of the evening before on Scholl road. Youngsters using a heavy barberry hedge at the Adam W. Brandt residence for protection had been the targets of dozens of snowballs. In the morning sunlight, the balls of snow gave the hedge the appearance of blooming cotton.

TAGS FOR SWIMMERS—

A new pin-tag identification system will be put into effect at Liberty park swimming pool this summer. Park Supt. Frank Burton, receiving delivery on the first batch of tags yesterday, explained the system. One tag goes on the clothing basket. The other, with pin attached, may be fastened to a swimmer's bathing suit. Both sets of tags will be numbered. The pin system should prevent losses, Burton believes. Only one hazard threatens the system, Burton says, with a smile. "If women's suits get any scantier, the pins may prove useless. They'll be hard pressed for a place to fasten them."

LEND-LEASE GOODS READY FOR RUSSIA

WASHINGTON — (INS) — State department officials emphasized today that armaments and war munitions are not included in the final twenty five million dollars worth of lend-lease shipments they desire to send to Soviet Russia.

A spokesman for the office of lend-lease administrator said a sizeable portion of the wartime order was made up according to Russian specifications. The U. S. government, he indicated, would not find a ready or profitable market for the goods in this country.

A large part of Russia's last requisition consists of heavy parts for oil refineries, other industrial equipment, and for electric motors. Lesser amounts of construction machinery and other non-military items are included.

YOUNG DEMOCRATS HEAR CANDIDATES

Brief talks by nine of the Democratic candidates for city offices highlighted the monthly meeting of the Young Democratic club last night at Johns Park pavilion.

Introduced by Jack V. Hamilton, president of the club, the speakers included: Charles O. Anglin, candidate for mayor; Joseph Ellison, candidate for city solicitor; Paul L. Kelly, incumbent city auditor and candidate for re-election; Michael A. Mihalick, candidate for councilman-at-large; David N. Swihart, seeking re-election in the Sixth ward; Fred D. Sells, candidate for First ward councilman; Arthur E. Flood, candidate for Third ward councilman, and Jacob P. Urschel, Hamilton and J. L. Stover, seeking councilman-at-large posts.

A social meeting and community sing closed the session.

5 AGENCIES LISTED AS 'CHANNELS'

Organization Proposes That Government Investigators Be Given More Funds.

WASHINGTON — (UP) — The United States Chamber of Commerce aimed an accusing finger today at five government war agencies as channels through which Communists and fellow travellers got on the public payroll.

The chamber said the Communists have moved on into permanent government agencies. It accompanied these charges with a demand that they be fired. The war agencies through which Communists infiltrated into government service were named as:

Office of War Information, Office of Strategic Services, Office of Price Administration, Federal Economic Administration and the War Labor Board.

Gives Estimate.

An estimate that 400 Communists had government jobs of some importance was not supported by evidence of who and where they were. On the contrary, the Chamber said in a report of its study on Communists in government service, that it was practically impossible to discover a Communist if he does not want to be known as a party member.

To remedy that situation, the Chamber proposed that government investigating agencies be given more funds to inquire into the background of government personnel. The report said there was an appalling lack of cooperation between the legislative and executive branches of government to deal with the Communist problem.

Charging that the United Public Workers of America, with a large membership among government employes, was a Communist sponsored organization, the report cited its recent operations in the militarily-strategic Panama Canal Zone.

It said 17,000 workers had been organized there under leadership of Leonard H. Goldsmith. Goldsmith was described as "a New Jersey CIO organizer with a long record of Communist activities."

"This union," the report continued, "has locals in the state, war and navy departments and other important federal departments, in arsenals, navy yards, scientific laboratories, proving grounds, penetrating to the positions in government most sensitive from a security standpoint."

Reports Arrests.

Citing the fact that a file clerk might in some instances be a better espionage agent than some more prominent official, the Chamber's report continued:

"In June, 1945, six persons were arrested on charges of violating the espionage act, two of them connected with the pro-Communist magazine Amerasia, according to Rep. George A. Dondero, R., Mich., a search of the offices of the magazine disclosed more than 100 files containing top-secret and highly confidential documents stolen from the state department, war department, navy department, Office of Strategic Services, Office of Postal and Telegraph Censorship and the Office of War Information.

"This charge was corroborated by subsequent congressional investigation. One of the six, Emmanuel Larsen, declared that influence was used to prevent real prosecution of the defendants."

CITY GETS NEW DIRECTORIES

After a delay of six months, Mansfield's new city directories were in the mail today to business firms and other subscribers.

The directory, published by the Burch Directory company of Akron, was compiled last year but delays because of mechanical and printing difficulties held up publication until this year.

The 1947 directory is exactly 100 pages larger than the previous volume, published in 1943. The new directory contains 689 pages, as compared with 580 pages in the 1943 issue.

The new volume contains 25 index classifications. Nearly 100 pages are devoted to a Mansfield street guide, while 481 pages make up the alphabetical list of Mansfield residents over 16 years of age.

Other classifications include apartment buildings, associations and clubs, business directory, buyers' guide, cemeteries, church directory, city and county officials, parks, public schools and buildings, postal information and ward boundaries.

A page is devoted to a statistical review of Mansfield.

FRESH BLOOD A MUST FOR FREE ENERGY

Do you feel like you are tied to a drag everytime you try to do something? If so, don't let a low blood count hold you down when you may release vibrant energy to every muscle, fibre, cell.

Every day—every hour—millions of tiny red-blood-cells must pour forth from the marrow of your bones to replace those that are worn-out. A low blood count may affect you in several ways: no appetite, underweight, no energy, a run-down condition, lack of resistance to infection and disease.

To get real relief you must keep up your blood strength. Medical authorities, by analysis of the blood, have by positive proof shown that SSS Tonic is amazingly effective in building up low blood strength in non-organic nutritional anemia. This is due to the SSS Tonic formula which contains special and potent activating ingredients.

Also, SSS Tonic helps you enjoy the food you eat by increasing the gastric digestive juice when it is non-organically too little or scanty—thus the stomach will have little cause to get balky with gas, bloat and give off that sour food taste.

Don't wait! Energize your body with rich, red-blood. Start on SSS Tonic now. As vigorous blood surges throughout your whole body, greater freshness and strength should make you eat better, sleep better, feel better, work better, play better, have a healthy color glow in your skin—firm flesh fill out hollow places. Millions of bottles sold. Get a bottle from your drug store. SSS Tonic helps Build Sturdy Health. —Adv.

Toledo's Grant Murray Wants To Increase Age of Athletes

COLUMBUS—(INS)—The Ohio legislature was urged today to use the Daniels-Cramer school bill as a club to beat the Ohio High School Athletic association into line.

Grant Murray, vice-president of the Toledo board of education, said the bill could be used as a means of guaranteeing all high school students, including those 20 and 21 years old, the right to participate in high school athletics.

Present regulations of the OHSAA provide that only those 20 years old or less may participate. Murray said that the OHSAA is now circulating a petition to lower the maximum age to 19.

Murray told the senate education committee which is considering the 194 million dollar measure that it should be amended to bar state school aid "to any district which does not live up to the school laws of Ohio."

The board member from Toledo—hot-bed of opposition to the association—made it plain that he meant the right of every student between six and 21 "to an education and all the privileges that go with it," including participation in athletics.

Murray recalled that two years ago Toledo led the fight which resulted in the outlawing of secret ballot of OHSAA members. The association, he claimed, is made up of school principals without official standing.

He estimated that many of the 50,000 boys 19 to 21 years old would quit school if they are denied the right of athletic participation.

"High school principals are employes of the boards of education. How can employes, without legal status, bind themselves together and bar any boy the rights and privileges granted him by the legislature of Ohio?"

MUIR'S CUT-RATE
At The Sign of the Thrifty Scot

WE FIGURE CUTTIN' PRICES IS GOOD BUSINESS...and here's why:

25 years ago we opened the first Cut Rate Drug store in the country. It was an experiment, an experiment to see if people were as interested in saving money on drugs as they were in saving on groceries. A lot of people came in, looked around, and were convinced. Through the years these people and many others formed the habit of saving at MUIR'S. They became our friends. Now, 25 years later, the idea is no longer an experiment. That one modest store now has grown to 34 modern, clean stores all built on the one idea . . . CUTTING PRICES IS GOOD BUSINESS.

Liquor Inspector Who Quit Job Requested to Air Views

COLUMBUS—(NS)—Edmund E. Schuster, whose resignation as a state liquor inspector with a blast to the effect that "strict, honest (liquor law) enforcement is not wanted" in the department, probably will be given a chance to air his views both before Governor Herbert and the special senate liquor investigating committee.

Herbert invited Schuster to confer with him regarding the charges, while Sen. Roscoe Walcutt (R., Columbus), chairman of the committee, indicated Schuster would be its first witness at the initial open hearing tomorrow.

Herbert wrote the former Perrysburg inspector to "come to my office at your earliest convenience to present any information you may have which may be of value to us in our efforts to conduct the department according to law."

Walcutt earlier had instructed the committee's counsel, Frank J. Collopy, to contact Schuster, who ended his eight- year association with the liquor department with the assertion that he was being transferred "down the Ohio river, in the district reserved for—to use the exact words of your newly appointed enforcement chief—the bad boys of the department."

LEADERS SEEK TO SPEED WORK OF LEGISLATURE

COLUMBUS—(NS)—A concerted attempt to speed up the lagging sessions of the Ohio legislature was instituted today by the rules committees of the house and senate.

The two groups held their first joint meeting of the session, now in its seventh week, as the feeling spread that the sessions will drag on to August or September unless drastic steps are taken.

House Speaker C. William O'Neill and Senate Majority Leader Frank E. Whittemore concurred in a statement that the joint meeting was to "work out a plan of expediting the session." They indicated that future meetings, to be held weekly, would determine which bills would be given the green light and which would be sidetracked in the reference or rules committees.

Further, Senate Clerk Tom Bateman said that the skeleton Thursday sessions would be abandoned in favor of full working meetings.

Despite all good intentions, however, the work of the assembly proceeded at snail's pace. The introduction of another judges' pension bill took the spotlight over the passage of three minor bills.

Offers Pension Plan.

The new pension proposal, sponsored by Sen. Fred Reiners (R-Cincinnati, is the same measure that came to grief in the last session. A similar measure already has been introduced in the house.

Retirement annuities ranging from $70 to $400 a month, depending on length of service and average salary over the last term, are provided in the bill, which bore the stamp of approval of the Ohio Bar association, the statewide lawyers' organization.

All judges would be eligible, from municipal jurists to those on the state supreme court, on payment of four per cent payroll contributions. The bill did not specify matching, but does provide that the state treasury would provide "such amount, if any, as the board (of administration) may determine to be necessary for the proper operation of the system."

Judges Could Retire.

Generally, judges could retire after as little as 12 years' service, at the age of 70, or even at the age of 65 if they failed to be re-elected or became permanently disabled.

Amounts of the pensions ranged from 25 per cent of the average salary of the last six-year term to a maximum of 50 per cent for those with 18 years' service.

The bar association estimated that only 38 of the 342 judges could receive the maximum $500 a month pension, and that only 30 of these are now eligible to retire.

The association estimated the average grant to a judge retiring at the end of 12 years' service at $1,600 a year, at the end of 15 years $2,400, and at the end of 18 years $3,200.

Returns Contract

Be Quick To Treat Bronchitis

Chronic bronchitis may develop if your cough, chest cold, or acute bronchitis is not treated and you cannot afford to take a chance with any medicine less potent than Creomulsion which goes right to the seat of the trouble to help loosen and expel germ laden phlegm and aid nature to soothe and heal raw, tender, inflamed bronchial mucous membranes.

Creomulsion blends beechwood creosote by special process with other time tested medicines for coughs. It contains no narcotics.

No matter how many medicines you have tried, tell your druggist to sell you a bottle of Creomulsion with the understanding you must like the way it quickly allays the cough, permitting rest and sleep, or you are to have your money back. (Adv.)

SOMETHING TO WATCH

Every day a little learned;
Thus is useful knowledge earned.
—Yowler the Bobcat.

Yowler the Bobcat was disappointed, disgusted and puzzled. He had watched Prickly Porky the Porcupine apparently eating something in the snow. He had hoped that it was something he himself could eat and that Prickly Porky would leave at least a bite or two. At long last Prickly Porky had waddled away and climbed a tree. Yowler was free to finish what Prickly Porky had left if he wanted to. Now he didn't want to. No, sir, he didn't want to. It was one of the antlers that had fallen from the head of Lightfoot the Deer a few days before. Do you wonder that he was disappointed, disgusted and puzzled?

He looked up at the prickly fellow in the tree and wondered if he had really been trying to eat that hard thing which was like bone yet different. He certainly had been gnawing at it. The marks of his teeth were on it. A very little had been gnawed away, but not enough for food, not enough for even a mouthful.

Remembering how often he had gnawed a bare bone Yowler said to himself: "Perhaps he gnawed at it just to keep his teeth sharp, or perhaps he just likes the taste of it." He put out his tongue and licked the antler then turned up his nose. "He may like it but I don't," said he. Then he snarled his disappointment for he had so hoped that this would be something he could eat.

A sharp snort caused him to look up. In the path a little way from him was Mrs. Lightfoot. The hair along the top of her neck was standing up. Her usually soft eyes seemed to flash with rage. She stamped twice and the sound of that stamping was ugly and threatening. She made a sudden dash and reared high on her hind feet to strike down at Yowler with the sharp-edged hoofs of her forefeet.

Yowler wasn't there when those hoofs came down. With a great leap he slipped from beneath them, landing out on the packed deep snow at one side of the path. Mrs. Lightfoot made a single plunge after him but her sharp hoofs cut down through the snow so that it was up to her shoulders. Angry as she was, she was too smart to allow her anger to overcome her good sense and flounder after him. That was what he hoped she would do. In deep snow she couldn't fight, couldn't rear up and strike. He could kill her there with ease and no danger to himself.

Mrs. Lightfoot knew that as well as he did. She backed into the trodden path and stamped and snorted angrily. Lightfoot joined her. Yowler snarled and slunk away. There was no chance of a dinner of Deer meat now.

Later he surprised a young Hare who in foolish curiosity sat too long. Perhaps he thought that in his white coat he wouldn't be seen. Anyway he kept Yowler from starving.

A few days later the latter was in the neighborhood of the Deer yard. Remembering that fallen antler that he had seen Prickly Porky gnawing on he went to see if Prickly Porky had been back. There had been a light snow the night before. In it were Prickly Porky's footprints leading straight to that old antler. They were all around it. There were other footprints there, too, dainty little footprints, a lot of them.

"Mice!" exclaimed the big Bobcat under his breath as he saw those little footprints. "Now what were Mice doing over here?"

He looked at that old antler. It had been gnawed considerably since he last saw it. The marks of big teeth, the gnawing teeth of Prickly Porky were plain to see. But these were not the only marks. There were marks left by small teeth, smaller teeth than any of Prickly Porky's.

"Mice!" said Yowler under his breath again. "It must be they like this thing just as Prickly Porky does. If they do they will come back. I don't know what there is about it that any one can want, but there must be something. I'll keep an eye on this thing. It is something to watch. It is nothing that I can eat, but it may bring me something I can eat." He looked around for a good place in which to hide.

--By Bennet Cerf

Charles Coburn says that his father started taking him to the theater when he was five years old and he has loved it ever since.

"The one place my father forbade me to go near was a burlesque house," Coburn said.

"'You'll see things there that you shouldn't,' he explained. Of course that just whetted my curiosity and the first time that I got a quarter of my own, I went straight to a burlesque show.

"Father was certainly right. I saw something I shouldn't have seen. I saw Father."

One of the most intriguing stories to be sent out over the press wires in many a day concerned the mayor of a small town in Oregon who started his car with a roar, went backwards instead of forwards, smashed through the plate glass of the town's leading department store and stopped in front of the ladies' underwear department.

He looked with mute appeal at his front seat companion. "I am terribly sorry," said the latter, as embarrassed as he was frightened. "but I am afraid I will have to refuse Your Honor a driver's license."

NEW TERROR WAVE FEARED IN PALESTINE

JERUSALEM—(INS)—Fear of increasing violence by the Jewish underground spread throughout Palestine today following a new series of incidents.

Some quarters termed renewed underground action the end to an uneasy truce following Britain's decision to let the United Nations determine the future of the Holy Land

Blast Injures Four.

In the first of the incidents which began yesterday four British soldiers were hurt when an electrically detonated mine blew up an army truck

Explosions also were reported at railway stations at Nablus and Schechem midway between Haifa and Jerusalem

No loss of life was reported in these incidents although there was considerable property damage

Police accounts attributed the separate attacks to work of the radical Stern gang

Experts said that the manner in which the army truck was attacked on the outskirts of Jerusalem was "amateurish." It did not appear to be the work of the Irgun Zvai Leumi which recently has been the most active underground organization conducting anti-British resistance

Filipinos Order Military Training

MANILA—(INS)—The Philippine interior department issued a circular today calling on all 20-year-old male citizens of the nation to register for compulsory military training

The circular marking the first step in the program to build a citizen army in the Philippines said twenty year olds will be called up annually beginning in April

U. N. STUDIES ALBANIAN CASE

LAKE SUCCESS, N Y —(INS)— The United Nations security council laying aside consideration of the atomic energy report to allow study of 12 proposed Russian amendments was slated today to continue its hearing of the British-Albanian mine-laying dispute

Albanian representative Hysni Kapo was to be permitted to reply to British charges that his government by "illegally mining" the Corfu strait was guilty of "international crime"

The British are demanding that Albania assume the blame and pay indemnity for the damaging of two British warships and the death of 44 English seamen when the two vessels struck mines last fall

Active Russian support of Albania was indicated by the arrival of a naval expert from Moscow over the weekend He is to serve as advisor to Soviet delegate Andrei Gromyko during hearing on the case

The council's consideration of the dispute will enable members to give full study to the 12 amendments to the atomic commission's findings entered by Gromyko at Tuesday's session

The amendments, as anticipated, call for the outlawing of an international convention which would destroy existing atomic bomb stockpiles before an international security system demanded by the United States, is established

Letizia Charges Suspension Linked With Politics; Hawley Denies It.

Letizia admitted that he had taken a "few drinks with three or four other" employes about two months ago but charged that he alone was singled out for suspension because of the political angle.

Hawley is a Republican in the GOP-controlled state administration and Letizia is a registered Democrat who has worked in the two Mansfield liquor stores for approximately four years.

Thull said he knew of no others who drank while on duty.

"That is strictly forbidden by the regulations. I wouldn't hold still for that," he said.

* * *

Will Fight For Job.

Letizia did not name the persons he claimed purchased liquor at the back door "while the public stood in line at the front door," but he asserted some of them were friends of Hawley. A civil service employe, Letizia said he would fight before the civil service commission for his job.

"I have a lot of friends," Hawley said in comment. "I don't know if any of them went to the back door. I know I never went myself."

Dombey explained that Hawley has no official position in personnel matters but that he filed a recommendation on suspension of Letizia as "an additional witness."

Hawley admitted making the recommendation for Letizia's suspension "because of the condition I found at the store."

* * *

Hawley Present In Store.

Letizia denied that Hawley was in the store on the day the drinking took place. He said Hawley confronted him with the intoxication charge Feb. 10 and the drinking occurred "about two months ago while some of us were cleaning up the basement."

Dombey said "there's nothing to it" when informed of Letizia's claim of a "political trick." He said Hawley was present in the store "on other matters" when Letizia was confronted with the charge.

Request Made For Higher Postal Rates

WASHINGTON — (U.P.) — The post office department has asked congress to increase rates on parcel post, second class mail and money orders, and to retain the wartime 3-cent rate on local mail.

Faced with a $325,000,000 deficit for the 1948 fiscal year, the department also asked legislation requiring federal agencies to pay for mail service now provided free. The post office said this service cost it $98,000 a year.

The department proposed:

1. Retention of the present 3-cent out-of-town and 5-cent air-other second class mail. The rate for local first class mail which is scheduled to expire July 1.

2. A two cent rate for postcards.

3. New and higher rates of from three to 15 cents an ounce for newspapers, magazines and other second class mail. The rate now is ½ cent an ounce.

4. A boost in parcel post rates from four to five cents a pound; an increase in special delivery rates on parcel post from seven to 10 cents a pound.

5. An increase on money order fees from 6 to 22 cents and an increase of three cents for postal note fees.

Railroad Loses For First Time

PHILADELPHIA — (INS) — The Pennsylvania Railroad announced to stockholders today that it had operated at a loss in 1946 for the first time in its 100-year history.

Martin W. Clement, president, blamed the $10,850,516 deficit, contracted while the railroad was carrying a record peacetime load of freight and passengers, on "government regulation."

MANILA — (U.P.) — China, through Minister Chen Chi-Peng, formally notified the Philippines today it was breaking off further negotiations on a proposed amity pact because of what it considered discriminatory measures against Chinese residents in the islands.

LILIENTHAL WINS ROUND

WASHINGTON — (U.P.) — The chairman of the senate atomic energy committee today dismissed charges that David E. Lilienthal winked at Communist activities while he headed the Tennessee Valley Authority.

Chairman Bourke B. Hickenlooper (R-Iowa), said that Sen. Kenneth McKellar (D-Tenn), had failed to prove his Communist accusations during almost four weeks of hearings on Lilienthal's appointment to head the atomic energy commission.

Senate Democratic Leader Alben W. Barkley, Ky., also said the Communist charges were "unfounded" and pledged his support to Lilienthal.

Barkley entered the battle amid these other developments:

1. The threat of a southern Democratic filibuster against the nomination was raised by Sen. John H. Overton (D-Ala). He said he would favor at least "two or three weeks" of floor debate and would oppose any attempt to choke it off hurriedly.

2. Senate Democratic whip Scott Lucas, Ill., predicted flatly that the senate would confirm Lilienthal notwithstanding the opposition of nearly all Republican leaders.

3. Harry A. Winne, vice president of the General Electric Corp., warned that this nation would lose its leadership in atomic fields if the senate delayed approval of Lilienthal and the four other appointees to the commission.

FRANCE PLANS NEW PACT WITH POLAND

PARIS — (INS) — The French government announced today its intention to negotiate a treaty of mutual defense with Poland, to replace the pact concluded in 1921 when Russia was looked upon as an enemy of Poland.

Fund Slash Threatens Immediate OPA Collapse, Official Warns

SUGAR, RENT CONTROLS NOW UP TO SENATE

Chief Declares Agency Will 'Fold Up' Unless More Money Is Granted.

WASHINGTON — (NS) — The question of whether sugar and rent controls will collapse Friday rested today squarely with the senate.

The skeletonized remains of OPA were dealt a severe blow when the house rejected the agency's request for five million 900 thousand dollars to continue its remaining controls until June 30 and voted to rescind nine million dollars already authorized.

Price Chief Max McCullough immediately issued a warning that if the senate takes similar action, the agency will have only enough funds to operate through Friday. He said:

"If this goes through several million tenants who now have the protection of eviction controls and rent ceilings will be without that protection.

"It also means that there will be no funds available to continue the sugar rationing program and to maintain the price ceiling on sugar."

McCullough said all enforcement and compliance activities and sales controls in connection with the veterans housing program also would have to be determined.

Hopeful of Change.

Administration officials were hopeful that part of the reductions will be restored by the senate, but influential Republicans in the upper house have been even more outspoken in condemning the OPA as "the New Deal gestapo."

Action on the OPA funds was taken when the house passed by a 320 to 25 vote and sent to the senate an appropriation bill which slashes 56 per cent off President Truman's request for deficiency funds to operate federal agencies until June 30.

Sugar controls are scheduled to end March 31, but may be continued after that date under the second war powers act.

Sen. Robertson (R-Wyo.) has introduced a bill in the senate to transfer the sugar rationing function to the agriculture department.

This proposal will be studied by the senate banking committee at hearings slated to begin next Tuesday.

The fate of rent controls, which had been expected to be extended in considerably modified form beyond the OPA's June 30th expiration date was indicated by Sen. Buck (R.) Del., senate banking subcommittee chairman.

Opposes OPA.

Buck noted that committee sentiment was crystallizing around a proposal to get rid of OPA as the rent ceiling enforcement agency.

The Delaware Republican has introduced a bill now before his sub-committee which would make the local courts the enforcement agency for rent control violations.

The full senate banking committee was scheduled to meet tomorrow in closed session with Temporary Controls Administrator Philip B. Fleming to discuss rent control revision. OPA now is under the temporary controls agency.

FIRST RED CROSS CHECK—Although the annual enrollment of the Richland county chapter of the Red Cross does not officially open until March 3, the Farm Tools, Inc., got the "drop" on campaign plans and turned in their quota of $350. Above Oliver Henkel, co-chairman of the industrial division for the campaign, receives the check from Edgar Berry (left), president of the Civic club of Farm Tools, Inc., while Fred H. Cahall (right), secretary of the company, looks on smilingly.

DEMAND CONTINUES FOR VISITING NURSES

The demand for visiting nurses is still continuing in Mansfield, Dr. Fred O. Tonney, city and county health commissioner, reported yesterday.

Tonney said that over the weekend his office received two calls for visiting nurses.

One call came from a home into which a baby was born Saturday night. The other call developed when a woman patient at General hospital was stricken with scarlet fever and had to be removed.

The woman had to be taken home. A practical nurse finally was located to care for her. Her children were taken to the home of relatives in Cleveland.

Two Firms Early To Aid Red Cross

At least two Mansfield industrial firms have made sure that their contributions for the annual Red Cross enrollment due to start March 3, were donated in plenty of time.

The two are the civic club of Farm Tools, Inc., first to turn over their check, and the Mansfield Plating company.

The check from the Farm Tools, Inc., amounted to $350, the firm's quota of the total $41,000 campaign goal. The $80 contribution of the Mansfield Plating company exceeded that firm's quota by $5.

Both firms were contacted through the industrial committee, including Oliver Henkel, Irl Fisher and Harry Bowman. As in previous years, this committee has done a good bit of pre-campaign scouting. When the time comes for the "kick-off" dinner in March, much of the ground work for this committee's share in the actual campaigning will have been done.

BOWMAN STREET BRIDGE DECISION EXPECTED SOON

An answer on requested aid of the Public Roads administration in construction of a new $57,000 bridge over the Black Fork creek on Bowman street road is expected within a week or 10 days, County Engineer Walter E. Rusk said today.

Rusk's statement came after two engineers, one representing the PRA and the other the bridge bureau of the state highway department, viewed the site of the proposed improvement yesterday afternoon.

"They gave me no commitments but our plans have been in their hands for some time and we expect an answer soon," Rusk said.

The county engineer said the plans, drawn by his department, have already been approved by the state highway department.

The project, undertaken within provisions of the federal highway act of 1944 which provides for federal-local financing, is to replace a narrow bridge constructed in 1889.

The new bridge would be 156 feet long and would carry a roadway of 24 feet wide. The old bridge, located approximately 11 miles north of Mansfield on a poor alignment, is 96 feet long and carries a roadway 16 feet wide. The plans call for relocation also of 1,250 feet of the Black Fork channel.

The county has earmarked for the project $27,546 in a special bridge fund. Under the provisions of the federal highway act this would be matched by federal funds. Sale of the contract to private construction forces would be handled by the state.

16 Bids Accepted by City For Operating Equipment

Mansfield board of control yesterday announced acceptance of 16 bids to supply the city with operating equipment and material this year.

Eight of the bids were accepted providing the contractor will quote a "firm price" instead of stipulating that price at time of shipment will prevail, city officials said.

Service-Safety Director E. L. Morgan said that all but one of the bids accepted were the lowest received or were equal to other bids for the same contract.

Concerning the eight qualified bids, Morgan said that it's up to the contractors now to determine whether they'll accept the city's offer.

The bid of the Darling Valve and Manufacturing company, Williamport, Pa., to supply fire hydrants at $109.85, was the second highest of four bids.

It was accepted because of its lower maintenance and installation costs, Morgan said. Other bids ranged from $97.50 to $109.90. The hydrant bid was one of the eight accepted on a firm price basis.

Bids accepted without qualification, Morgan said, were those of the Hughes Supply company, Mansfield, water meters, $13.97 each; Diamond Alkali company, Cleveland, liquid chlorine, $8.75 per 100 pounds.

International Salt company, Cincinnati, rock salt, $9.40 per ton; H. W. Fleck, Mansfield, crushed gravel, $1.50 per ton.

R. O. Darling, Mansfield, slag $1 to $1.85 per ton; Darling, rental machinery (three bids submitted ranged from $5.50 to $6.50 per hour); Concrete Pipe company of Ohio corporation, Youngstown, 25 cents to $33.25 per foot, depending upon size.

Mansfield Asphalt Paving company, Mansfield, asphalt and road oil (two bids submitted ranged from nine and one-half cents a gallon for road oil to $9 per ton for asphalt concrete).

Rensselaer Valve company, Pittsburgh, Pa., tapping and gate valves, $13.30 to $119.80, depending upon size and combination.

Bids accepted on a firm price basis include those of the American Radiator and Standard Sanitary Corporation, Mansfield, copper tubing, .2305 per foot.

Hughes Supply company, Mansfield, service boxes and corporation stops, (two bids submitted ranging from $1.31 to $3.33, depending upon combination).

Emmett W. Casey, Mansfield, crushed stone, (three bids ranging from $1.70 to $1.90 per ton); Casey, mason sand, $2 per ton; Voegele Brothers, Mansfield, coal, $6.31 to $9.67 per ton, depending upon type.

Ready Mixed Concrete, corporation, Mansfield, ready mixed concrete (two bids ranging from $11.25 to $14.70 per cubic yard); Kallmerten and Baer corporation, Mansfield, vitrified sewer pipe, (three bids ranging from 34 to 52 per cent off list price.)

Military Strength Is Still Necessary; Permanent Peace Not Yet Assured

WITH the army inclined to let the draft law lapse at the end of March, war department officials apparently are pinning their hopes of getting a fighting force of 1,070,000 by July 1 or two methods. The first is voluntary enlistment and the second universal military training.

The draft cost about $27,500,000 a year. It was suspended Oct. 15 after it had inducted only 40,000 men in its last six months of active operation. Voluntary enlistment brought in more than that just from Jan. 1 through the first week in February—a total of 41,629, in fact.

War department heads are favorably impressed with voluntary enlistments but they still feel universal training is advisable to keep the army up to proper strength. Their plan would require all young men to enter a year's military training at some time between their 18th and 20th birthdays. It would cost taxpayers about a billion dollars annually.

While the cost of the program is certainly something for congress to consider along with its study of the army's proposal, the main consideration right now is that the United States must remain militarily alert.

Until the United Nations or some other system can guarantee peace, this country must look out for its own preservation. Atom bombs alone will not be the answer. One look at Japan proves that. Even after the two bombs had broken the Japanese will to fight it was necessary to move in a vast army to maintain the victory. Actually, there is no such thing as a "push-button war."

Even when guided missiles can be sent thousands of miles to obliterate enemy cities, armies will be needed not only to police vanquished areas but to serve in portions of our own land which may be devastated by an enemy's atomic bombs.

Ash Wednesday Opens Lenten Season

TODAY'S observance of Ash Wednesday, which marks the beginning of Lent, starts a 40-day period of prayer and self-discipline for millions of Christians throughout the world, in preparation for the coming of Good Friday and Easter.

History reveals that in an earlier time, observance of this period of preparation was much more general. Law courts suspended their sessions from Ash Wednesday until Easter; wars were adjourned for the time and soldiers were permitted to return home during the Lenten season.

"But," says a bulletin from St. Paul's Catholic Information Service, Washington, D. C., "that was during the Middle Ages, before we had become civilized and progress had handed us the atomic bomb. Wars go on, nowadays, right through Lent; indeed, Benito, the frustrated world-conqueror, not so long ago chose one Good Friday—the very climax of Lent—as the day most suitable for his infamous invasion of Albania."

"Just the same," the bulletin continues, "countless Christians will recall the words, 'If any man will come after me, let him deny himself and take up his cross daily and follow me.' Hence the Christian practice of self denial in food, drink and entertainment. . . . "

The keynote of the season, it is explained, is sounded on the morning of Ash Wednesday, when, in Catholic churches, the congregation hears the words: "Remember, man, that thou art dust, and unto dust thou shalt return." Then members of the congregation go forward and receive on their foreheads an ashen smudge, symbolizing the emptiness of everything mortal. Significantly, the ashes are made by burning the greens left from last year's Palm Sunday.

'Mother' Roessel's Life of Service

ONE of the compensations of a long lifetime of service to others is the satisfaction that must surely be felt in later years when time is given for reflection over events of the past.

Mrs. Minnie Birmelin Roessel, who has just passed from life at the age of ninety, is one of those who was entitled to peaceful enjoyment of her sunset years, with confident assurance that the time she was permitted to spend on earth had been used in such a way as to benefit many to whom her services were extended.

As Mansfield's first charity nurse, and a pioneer welfare worker, Mrs. Roessel performed a service of incalculable value in this community long before hospital facilities and other home nursing attention became available.

It is noteworthy that the affectionate title of "Mother" was almost invariably bestowed upon Mrs. Roessel by those whom she so willingly, cheerfully and efficiently aided, for indeed there was always a motherly interest and concern evidenced in her service to those who were ill, especially to unfortunates who might otherwise have been without nursing attention.

When Overstrain Endangers Health

ANNOUNCEMENT of a health condition that requires Supt. W. L. Miller's temporary withdrawal from administrative duties as head of Mansfield's public school system, occasions regret among his associates and his many friends.

It is hoped that his planned trip, and his determination to "forget work for a time," will be effective in restoring the health required in performing the arduous duties and carrying the heavy responsibilities of public school superintendent.

Others working under similar strain may well regard this as a hint applicable to their own situation, as the need for a rest—and a chance to "forget work for a time" is not confined to any particular vocation.

Why Specify One Kind of Bribery?

OHIO'S legislators are in solemn parley at Columbus over a measure to make it a major crime to offer, accept or solicit a bribe in connection with any sporting event. The house has "quietly and unanimously" passed the bill. The senators presumably are pondering it.

If charges of a state liquor inspector, named Edmund E. Schuster, are true the bill probably should include provisions covering "sports" in the liquor department. Schuster claims bribes were accepted by several agents in instances about which he knew.

A bribe, incidentally, could be defined as something paid to get yourself into trouble—sooner or later.

Higher auto insurance rates penalize careful motorists for the derelictions of the careless ones—another evidence of interdependence that cannot be escaped.

SO WHY BOTHER ABOUT REPAIRING THE ROOF?

Senator Barkley Enters Protest Against Haste In Budget-Making

By DREW PEARSON

WASHINGTON—There wasn't a dull moment when the house-senate budget committee met behind closed doors last Friday to approve that $6,000,000,000 slash in government spending. At one point in the secret debate, Democratic Senator Alben Barkley flatly accused G.O.P. leaders of star chamber tactics in drafting the budget report.

"Most of us have had no chance to declare our views," the Kentuckian asserted angrily. "The house spokesmen have been meeting separately behind closed doors. Now you want to bring in your findings and expect us to agree to them without question. This whole issue has been handled in a very arbitrary fashion, which I disapprove."

GOP representative Everett Dirkson of Illinois replied that the separate meetings of house members were necessary, due to lack of time.

"We had very little time in hich to get out this report," argued Dirkson. "And some senators weren't always available when we wanted to hold meetings. However, I am sure that all members of the senate appropriations committee, Democrats as well as Republicans, have had plenty of opportunity to express themselves."

At another time, Barkley objected to being shut off by GOP Representative John Taber of New York, who presided, while Barkley was discussing military spending. Taber retorted that Barkley himself had urged the application of house procedure rules at the meeting.

"I am, therefore, limiting everybody who wants to make a speech to five minutes, so all members can have their say," grinned Taber. Barkley sat down without joining in the laughter.

* * *

The Army's Friends.

However, not all the wrangling followed party lines. In fact, during most of the meeting, the Republicans were battling among themselves.

Military-minded Senator Chan Gurney of South Dakota, chairman of the armed forces committee, who opposed the $1,750,000,000 burget cut for the army and navy, clashed repeatedly with Dirksen and other house GOP'ers.

"Our first consideration is security," declared Gurney, demanding that the over-all budget reduction should be $4,500,000,000, with only token cuts in army-navy spending. "With world conditions unsettled as they are, this is no time to curtail our armed services. It might be disastrous."

GOP Senators Taft of Ohio and Millikin of Colorado joined in this view, though later both voted for the $6,000,000,000 report.

Democratic Representative Clarence Cannon of Missouri, who charged that the $6,000,000,000 figure had been "arbitrarily fixed," was against the figure from start to finish and in the end voted against the report.

"Let's have a breakdown of these over-all figures, so we can know where the specific cuts are to be made," demanded Cannon.

"There isn't time for that," explained Dirksen. "We'd be here until Christmas if we attempted to itemize everything. All members have their sacred cows—the state department, flood control, rivers and harbors or something else. If we had to break down the report into a thousand and one items, it would take too much time and cause endless debate.

* * *

Gave Secret Figures.

"We arrived at our conclusions after talking to the best men we could find, a number of them pretty high up in the war and navy departments," explained Dirksen. "Also, we drew on the knowledge of our own appropriations committee members, who have had long experience dealing with the budgets of all the agencies and departments.

"Naturally, I can't reveal the identity of the top officers in the army-navy who told us how and where to make reductions in military spending. I don't want to see those men get their heads cut off.

"But I can tell you," continued the hard-working congressman from Illinois, "that some pretty high brass agrees with our conclusions. And we are convinced, based on what these people told us, that our recommendations will not in any way endanger national security."

However, this argument cut no ice with South Dakota's army-worshiping Gurney, who persisted in his stand that the armed services be excepted from the economy drive. The split in GOP ranks led by the South Dakota senator drew a sharp tongue-lashing from Republican Congressman Ben Jensen of Iowa.

Pointing his finger at the senate insurgents, Jensen exploded:

"You loose spenders better get your house in order. You better go back home and find out what the people are thinking. Before we begin worrying about an attack by Russia, we ought to think about getting the home front straightened out first and put our house in order."

Note—Though the congressional reorganization act provides that budget and other important committee hearings be open to the public, the above debate was secret and behind closed doors.

Capital Chaff

It hasn't leaked out, but Brig. Gen. Elliott Roosevelt was recommended for a permanent reserve commission by the Army Reserve Officers' commissioning board, headed by Lieut. Gen. Jimmy Doolittle. But when President Truman sent the nominations to the senate last week, Elliott's name was omitted. On the list, however, were several GOP opponents of the Roosevelts, particularly former Maj. Gen. Pat Hurley, who was nominated by the president for a two-star permanent reserve commission. This is the same Hurley who violently blasted both the president and the state department only a year ago . . . Former Civilian Production Administration Chief Jack Small will succeed former Under Secretary of War Louis Johnson as president of General Dyestuff Corp. . . . Members of the economy-minded congressional budget committee should have been with the house committee on the armed services when it discussed air power with Gen. Ira Eaker. After explaining just what the air force needs to keep itself abreast of the air arms of other countries, General Eaker told the congressmen, "Remember, gentlemen, a second-best air force is just as good as a second-best poker hand."

The Real "Closed Shop" Issue.

Cecil B. De Mille's vigorous testimony in Washington against the union ship—or closed shop as it's usually called—would have been more convincing if the film producer had been one of his own employes.

There is powerful evidence to be given against closed-shop practices as they have been developing these last few years. But it should be given by workers who have bruised their knuckles trying to break into the hard monopolies these practices have helped to create. The problem which congress must try to solve is not the closed shop as such, but the combination of the closed shop with the closed union.

The combination of the right to compel all employes in union-organized establishments to join the union with the power to decide who can and cannot join the union is a form of monopoly contrary to American ethics and law.—Canton Repository.

"Ghost-Writing" Has Become Too Common.

WASHINGTON—If this sort of thing keeps up, pretty soon, Washington is going to be known as the "ghost town"—and the definition won't be too far wrong.

Already, it's getting to a place where you can't pick up a newspaper magazine section or magazine without reading some story about how half the speeches made by leading lights in our government are "ghosted" by someone else.

In other words, half the time, the man making the speech has no idea what he's going to say until his "ghost" hands him the copy of his address a short time beforehand.

It would be nice to debunk that sort of talk, but, unfortunately, it's impossible. It's all too true.

And that is not a conclusion gained by second-hand information. This correspondent knows whereof he speaks on the subject.

Currently, there are two senators—one from the middlewest and one from the southwest—who gained or maintained their senatorial seats in the highest legislative body of our land purely by ghosting efforts I put forth in bygone days.

There also currently is a member of the president's cabinet who is there by the same route. I wrote a few speeches for him at the right time, years ago, and he kept advancing in national politics, due to permission by local voters.

It was the same way with the two senators. Due to local balance-of-power situations, they had to say the right things in local speeches to insure the statewide margin.

In those days, I worked on local newspapers which happened to be supporting them—and was called in by the publisher to write a few words which the candidate might express with an eye toward convincing the local people that he understood their problems.

It was that way also with the man who eventually became a cabinet member.

But believe me I know not what I did. Today, I would not repeat the process. Rather, I would let the politician stew in his own uninformed juices. If he were an honest man, he would probably impress the voters just as much, by not pretending a knowledge of their local problems. If he were not an honest man it would soon become apparent when he started speaking.

Today, looking over the situation, it makes you feel a little weak in the innards.

When a senator, a bureaucrat or a representative arises to speak, you have no idea whether he's speaking his own mind or merely parroting the words of some deft-fingered ghost who has typewritered the whole business.

Even the president is not immune from such suspicions. It is to be hoped, of course, that he tells his ghost-writers what sort of speech he wants and leaves only the phraseology to them, but somehow you hate to depend on a system so flimsy.

You would like to feel that your president, your senator, your representative or your state department or military chief was talking honestly to you.

Actually, you don't know. He may be merely intoning, with dramatic emphasis, the words written by someone else—words he neither wrote nor subscribes to. It's an unsettling thought.

That's the trouble with this ghost biz. Instead of taking the time and thought to work out one speech he really believes to be right, the average current carbon-copy ola statesman will make ten speeches—all written by someone else and he won't even check most of them to see whether they concur with his personal convictions.

Sometimes it frightens you, when you realize that most of the real statesmen in our history have not relied on such devices for their most vital addresses. It makes you understand that such trickery is not necessary with the American people.

The Gettysburg address was not a ghosted speech. Nor, despite a admitted use ordinarily of ghost, was the "We have nothing to fear but fear itself" address. Both speeches were written by the men who made them.

All statesman-like speeches should be. Some of my best friends are ghost-writers, but I hope they're all out of a job, and soon!

Private Power Interests Battle Lilienthal.

WASHINGTON — The fight against confirmation of David Lilienthal as chairman of the atomic energy commission is part of a major battle that has begun here along many fronts.

The aggressors are private-power interests which are attempting to check further public-power development. They are operating under cover of the economy campaign to curtail appropriations for public-power projects.

The outlines of this battle are clearly sketched in a significant senate debate over the budget.

Mr. Lilienthal was not a subject in that debate. Before going into that, it should be pointed out that he is a convenient target for the moment in the major battle of the private-power interests, though he is opposed also by other interests. But he has been an influence in other developments also that provoke the big battle opening here now.

Private-power interests bitterly fought creation by congress of the Tennessee Valley Authority originally. Losing, they predicted it would never succeed. It has, notably—under the capable management of Mr. Lilienthal and his co-workers.

His success there has inspired plans to develop other great river valleys along regional lines for production of electric power, for irrigation, reclamation and flood control. One is for the Missouri river valley. Another is the Columbia river valley.

Already the Northwest is far along with development of such projects—Grand Coulee in Washington and Bonneville in Oregon, like TVA, were ready when war struck us, for they provided power for production of aluminum and ships. But, for peacetime, they and others being built or planned offer the key to great industrial development through cheap power and for agricultural development through water for irrigation and reclamation.

This sort of development is so much accepted in the Pacific northwest that it attracts support of both political parties as well as business and industrial interests. The people are for it because it produces new wealth.

But private-power interests still are fighting back, nor is this a purely local fight. The private-power industry in the Northwest as elsewhere, has its roots in the East, and the battle gets direction from there.

Western members of congress are alerted for the battle, as was disclosed in senate debate when Senator O'Mahoney (D. Wyo) was criticizing the blanket budget cut of $6 billion, without specifications, approved by the joint legislative budget committee.

Senator Morse (R., Ore.) interjected to say that "over the long years the people of our great section of the country have found themselves the victims frequently of exploitation by great financial interests of the East," to which Senator O'Mahoney agreed.

The Oregon senator went on to say, "certainly those of us representing the great western states cannot justify voting for any such blanket budget reduction until we first know specifically whether or not it is proposed to cut into the great wealth-creating projects in the west which must be finished if we are going to have any economic stability in that area, and if we do not have it there, we are not going to have it in the nation, either."

Senator Morse warned western members that they must stick together to keep this issue before congress, and that the people of the west will hold both parties responsible.

Neither party, he said, can win in 1948 without the west.

Dangerous to Cut Budget With An Axe.

WASHINGTON—In the dispute over how much the federal government shall spend next year, neither side has talked about how the cutting is to be done. If you use a scalpel with patience, skill and intelligence, you get one result. Using an axe, you get quite a different result.

Impetuous economizers of the type of Chairman John Taber of the house appropriations committee are brandishing the axe. They are ready to hack away no matter what the consequences to the government of America's position before the world.

Vital in the budget dispute are the eleven billions requested by the army and the navy. Those who know the operation of government from long experience believe that with patience and persistence these requests might be trimmed without doing damage to either service.

But no one shows any sign of using patience and persistence. The arbitrary use of an axe will inevitably do great damage. That is why responsible Republicans such as Senator Gurney and Senator Vandenberg are determined to prevent a flat reduction in the appropriation for defense. They will have a hard fight, particularly when it comes to standing up to the Republican steamroller in the house.

There is a special sanctity about the eleven billions for defense. Even the axe-wielders pause when they realize that to slash the defense budget may radically alter the precarious balance now prevailing in world affairs.

But no such sanctity hangs over the items in the budget that cover the normal expenditures for our government. And to use an axe instead of a scalpel can be nearly as disastrous when it comes to the regular functions of government.

Representative Clarence J. Brown, of Ohio, one of the most influential Republicans in the house, went back to his native state not long ago and made a rousing, old-fashioned economy speech. He compared appropriations for government departments in 1939 with the requests made by the Truman administration for the fiscal year 1948.

This was an easy exercise in vote-getting aimed at 1948. It conveniently ignores two monumental facts. Fact No. 1 is that we are only just slowly emerging from the greatest upheaval in the history of the poor, battered old human race. As a part of that upheaval, we are witnessing the liquidation of the British empire.

That means the end of 150 years of order-keeping in the world. It means a political and military vacuum that will not long remain a vacuum. To shut our eyes to what is happening across the seas is to invite final disaster.

Fact No. 2 is our economic and technological supremacy over every other nation. Power also means responsibility. If we shirk responsibility, we shall certainly lose the power.

The axe-wielders seem determined to close their eyes to these facts. They act as though nothing had happened between 1941 and 1946. They assume that we can snap back to normal as easily as we did, say, after the Spanish-American war.

When the economy-back-to-normal drive is questioned, the old-line Republican says: "Don't you know the people voted out the New Deal and all that spending on November 5?"

In part, at least, that is true. There was a revolt last November against something known vaguely as the New Deal. But one thing is certain. The voters on Nov. 5 did not vote for a return to the OLD DEAL of pre-1933. Republicans who think they did may be badly fooled in 1948.

Farmer's Diary: "The Leveler."

GOING BY a village cemetery, I saw an old sexton start to dig a grave. He was tall and stooped, with a kindly, grizzled face and a twinkle in his gray eyes as he greeted me.

"Yes," he admitted, "I spend most of my time here in this cemetery digging graves, mowing grass, and keeping the corners clear of briers and weeds. Haven't missed but one week in the last 20 years. Even when there's no diggin' to do, in winter time, I come up from force of habit.

"It's about the quietest, safest place I've ever been. Most of these people used to be neighbors and friends of mine—I do the last service for 'em here on earth. It's a pleasant thought.

"There are some sad things, too. When I dig for a child . . . its mother never knows that a friend is here, even when she goes away. Old folks drop off so naturally, like fruit mellow for harvest, but when young ones die, it seems like throwing away so much sunshine and precious promise.

"I have a chart for all the lots, and for every grave, up in the sexton's little house, yonder. I know it all by heart, and when people come to visit graves, and tell me who, I find it helps their feelings better when I can take 'em there right off quick.

I asked a question. "It used to be," he said, "that they tolled a bell in the steeple, one stroke for each year of the age. I usually knew who had passed on, by the number of times it tolled.

"And out in the hills, where I used to live, there was an old superstition that when anyone died, a 'token' knock came on the sexton's door, and he could have just time to get his tools ready to dig a new grave.

"I often have wondered why I took up this work. But I claim it's one way to know folks when their masks are off. Grief is the same, rich or poor, for any creed or color. It levels off and shows up the good that's always there, in everyone."

LISTER POSES FOUR QUESTIONS ON FAIRGROUNDS

Contends Move Would Mean Scrapping $100,000 Plant.

C O Lister Mansfield R D 4, vice chairman of the Richland county fair board today asked citizens to write him their opinions on four questions pertinent to the proposal to move the fairgrounds to a new site

In a letter to the News Journal Lister said

"As a director of the Fair board representing the citizens of Madison township I should like to know your desires in a letter on the following questions

'Do you want a good county fair again?

Do you prefer the present site with the additional acreage and investment?

"Do you think the site should be moved away from the city?

"What do you think of the recreational and entertaining idea?

* * *

Expresses His Views

The questions were asked at the close of a lengthy letter in which Lister explained his views The text of the letter follows

"The present fairgrounds site of approximately 28 acres is known to be inadequate

"An additional two tracts of over 38 acres are available adjoining the present site to the north at very reasonable prices

'This additional acreage would provide room for a camping or park site auto parking facilities and room for a large coliseum or community building with two entrances off Springmill street and two from side streets off Bowman street thereby eliminating the traffic hazards of the past at the fairgrounds

* * *

Costs Are Cited

"We have on the present site one of the best half-mile race tracks in the state It would cost $12 000 or more to replace it at another site

All the public utilities are available at the present site

'It would cost $7 500 or more to install sanitation at another site A water system at another site would cost $2 500 or more.

The present buildings are in fair shape And with a general repair program painting and modernizing with perhaps one more exhibit building would provide a first class fair set-up

These buildings would cost around $6 500 or more to replace

* * *

$100.000 Estimate.

So that in considering moving the site away from the city you must throw aside all the above items worth nearly $100 000 to replace besides the loss of fire and police protection and of course thereby an increase in insurance costs

It is the thought of a number of the fair board directors that the fairgrounds could be made into a recreational and entertaining center for the county and city with a new grandstand baseball diamond etc also a large coliseum or community building for entertainments gatherings, basketball and meetings The grounds could be used the year around instead of just at fair time

But if it were to be moved away from the city and the center of the population area of the county these facilities would be useless

Cab Driver Cited In Traffic Mishap

Charged with failing to yield the right-of-way following an accident in which a pedestrian was injured Cab Driver Paul C Madden 21 of 288 Sturges avenue, was ordered to appear today in traffic court

Police said Joe King 31 of 234 East Third street suffered a broken right wrist when he was struck by an Ace company cab driven by Madden

The accident occurred yesterday about 7 a m at Fourth and Diamond streets police said They quoted Madden as saying he was blinded by lights of an on-coming car

Barclay On Bridge

AMONG THE very best players you will find a difference of opinion asto preferred bid on many a hand which presents a close question Alter the holding ever so slightly and you would find a number of them changing their preferences That is not because they necessarily observe different conventions or follow different policies, but because they are merely different human beings In all phases of life you will find that people, stoutly devoted to identical principles, apply them differently to actual situations that confront them

♠ A 10 3 2
♥ K Q 3 2
♦ 3 2
♣ K Q 2

There with the exception of exact size of the small spot cards is a hand which one of the country's outstanding top players opened with a bid of 1-Club in the last national championships A well-versed kibitzer later asked the question Does this violate his book?

The answer is that it does not The hand is right on the border between two different opening bids 1-Spade and 1-Club and as such would be bid either way by various ones among the acknowledged stars

First we can eliminate those who won't open with a major suit unless it is at least five cards in length, as obviously they must bid 1-Club Considering only those who are willing to bid 1-Spade when they have four cards in each major 1-Heart with four each in the red suits and 1-Diamond with four each in the minors we still find a wide variation after putting it up to a goodly bunch of them

Change the hand a bit and you would find all these players bidding the 1-Club Change it in the other direction and they would bid 1-Spade

Let's retain the diamond suit as two very small cards Now strengthen the three clubs and take about the same strength out of the majors and they would favor the 1-Club Weaken the clubs a bit and strengthen the majors and they would favor the 1-Spade The reason they assign however is not that which most players would suspect

The main idea is this If the majors are stronger the partner holding four cards in a major is likely to find it too weak in top strength— No Trump stoppage—to bid it If the majors are weaker the partner with four of major is more likely to have a strong enough suit to bid if he has four of a major In the former case therefore the opening major bid is preferred, in the latter the minor

Lucas Couple Exchange Vows

LUCAS — St. Paul's Lutheran church here was open Sunday, Feb. 16, for the lovely wedding of Miss Mary Alyce Switzer and Lavern Mitchell, both of Lucas. Rev. Carveth P. Mitchell, pastor of First Lutheran church in Mansfield and a former Lucas minister, assisted by Rev. Paul Buchholtz, new pastor of the Lucas church, officiated at the double ring ceremony at 3:30 p. m.

The chancel of the church was flanked by palms and beauty baskets of white and pink flowers. Vows were exchanged before the altar with two seven-branch candelabra adding their glow to that of the altar candles.

Given in marriage by her brother, Donald Switzer, the bride walked down the white carpeted aisle to meet the groom and his best man, Ralph Hazlett, of Mansfield. She was preceded by her sister, Miss Beverly Switzer, and the groom's small sister, Linda Mitchell, who acted as flower girl. James Connor, Mansfield, and Wayne Hammett, Lucas, ushered. Hammett is a brother-in-law of the groom and Connor will become his brother-in-law with his marriage to Norma Lee Mitchell next month.

Miss Esther Barnett, Lucas, presiding at the church organ, played a recital of nuptial music preceding the ceremony and Miss Marjorie Miles, Mansfield, presented several vocal solos.

The bride was pretty in a white satin gown fastened with bustle back and long flowing train. White starched cotton lace leaves joined the sheer marquisette yoke of the gown to the satin bodice that fastened down the back with a long row of tiny white buttons. Her finger tip veil fell from a coronet of seed pearls. She carried a white leather Bible topped with two white orchids and trailing a shower of white satin ribbon streamers.

Miss Switzer wore a gown of sheer pink marquisette over pink taffeta. It was styled similarly to that of the bride with a ruffle of self material marking the line between the yoke and bodice and another ruffle cascading into a small bustle. Her peadpiece was blue and the predominating color in her mixed bouquet was blue.

The little flower girl presented a pretty picture as she strolled down the aisle in a long dress of blue net made over blue taffeta. She carried an arm bouquet of mixed flowers with pink the predominating color.

A reception for 75 relatives and guests was held in the church parlors immediately following the ceremony. A garland of maiden hair fern encircled the tiered wedding cake, topped with a miniature bride and groom, when the luncheon was served. The serving table was centered with a bouquet of mixed flowers and beauty baskets on pedestals stood at either side. Bouquets of white and pink sweet peas, greenery, and white chrysanthemums were used throughout the parlors.

Miss Arlene Switzer, Mansfield, a sister of the bride, and Miss Maxine Mitchell, Lucas, a sister of the groom, presided at the serving table.

Mrs. Mitchell is the granddaughter of Mr. and Mrs. Leo Snider, Lucas, with whom she made her home. Her parents are Mrs. Ethel Switzer, Mansfield, and Lee Switzer Lucas. She is employed in the cost accounting department of the Mansfield Tire and Rubber company.

Mr. Mitchell is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Earl Mitchell, of Lucas. He is employed by the Ohio Public Service company in Mansfield.

Both Mr. and Mrs. Mitchell were graduated from Lucas high school.

After a short wedding trip, the couple will be at home in their newly furnished apartment in the McMichael building in Lucas. The bride wore an aqua dressmaker suit with her orchid corsage, brown fur topper and brown accessories, for her traveling costume.

YW Membership Dinner Held at Baptist Church

Architect's sketches and floor plans for the proposed addition to be erected at the rear of the YWCA house, 26 South Mulberry street, were posted for the observation of members and their guests at the 22nd annual YWCA membership dinner Monday night at the Park Avenue Baptist church. The YWCA board has approved the plans.

The principal speaker of the evening was Miss Oolooah Burner, a graduate of DePauw university and Columbia university graduate school, and for many years a member of the national YWCA staff. She continued her graduate study at Union Theological seminary, a new school for social research in New York.

Miss Burner spoke on "The YWCA Has a Purpose" and after her assertion that devotion to a purpose is the motive power of life she said that the purpose of the YWCA is to "take certain ideals and make them real in the stuff of everyday life." The means to this end suggested by Miss Burner are "building a fellowship by working, struggling, thinking and experimenting together on common concerns" and "understanding, knowing and loving God."

A challenge for everyone to adopt this purpose and to start working toward it right here in Mansfield concluded Miss Burner's talk.

Mrs. Howard Fox, YWCA president, introduced the speaker and presided at the speaker's table. The Rev. Albert Linder, pastor of the Park Avenue Baptist church, gave the invocation. Dinner music was provided by Mrs. F. P. Walter, violinist, and Mrs. Richard Wolford, pianist.

Reading Aloud Trains Child to Concentrate

By GARRY C. MYERS, Ph. D.

IN THIS column, in my books, in other articles, and from the platform I have for years been urging parents to read to the baby and young child. Judging from the letters referring to this matter and from the thousands of requests I have had from parents for my selected list of books for this purpose (to be had in a stamped addressed envelope) my urging hasn't been in vain.

I can think of no better preparation of the child for entering school than reading to him from the time he begins to look at a picture for a few continuous minutes, which may happen long before the youngster is two years old.

When you read to the baby you train him to listen attentively. You practice him in good concentration habits. You help him gain in vocabulary, ease and forcefulness of expression. You give him information. You fire his imagination. You stimulate his creative urge. You give him much to think about and talk about. You pave the way of good conversation with him. See what companionship you, Dad, any older adult or older child, may build with the child through reading to him.

Reading is an especially good way for Dad to gain enjoyment and give pleasure to the little tyke; for grandma to do something useful rather than harmful for him; for the baby sitter to win the youngster's cooperation; and for the older child to enjoy the younger while also improving his own reading skill. There is no better way for a school child to improve his reading than by reading aloud to an eager young listener. Besides, it is a good way for other members of the family to relieve the weary mother, by thus quieting the little child and making him happy.

Moreover, the little child who is read to a great deal acquires an affection for a book and an eagerness to learn to read later. When he does learn to read he hardly will be a mere word reader. He will read for meaning. When at school he reads from a text book or encyclopaedia he is unlikely to choose to copy words and sentences and to memorize them. Rather he inclines to digest the content and turn it into a few words and sentences of his own.

Telling stories has value, too. But when a child hears a story told, he associates it with the teller rather than a book. Few persons tell a story over and over in exactly the same words. The little child likes to hear the same words, phrases, and sentences repeatedly, which he enjoys when he hears a story read over and over again.

Though some parents can tell stories very well, even make them up out of their heads, most parents cannot or think they cannot. If all stories had to be told, relatively few children would hear any stories at home. But practically any adult or older child can read easy stories such as the child prefers.

For Thursday, February 20

THE energies and initiative may be keyed to high purpose on this day. And although the forces and maculties may be stimulated to new objectives, yet there is a real menace from over-enthusiasm, as well as a reckless impetuosity to neglect to count the costs. Cooperate with others in influential positions, but calmly evaluate the resources and construe plans and policies before taking dangerous plunges. Change and revise where perils lurk.

Those whose birthday it is may prepare for an energetic year, with much new and alluring prospects. The spirit of initiative is spurred to high purpose, but in this there is possible danger and disaster, mainly due to failure to consider calmly all details, costs and estimates. Join with those who move toward bargaining and less high pressure techniques.

A child born on this day will be bold, ambitious and practical, but it may fail because of reckless initiative. Wise heads should prevail.

Humangement Engineer Says Women Unlucky

By CLAIRE COX
(UP Staff Correspondent)

The girls they left behind are being left in the lurch now that their men are home, Eugene J. Benge said today.

Nobody seems to want thousands of women between 25 and 30 years old who didn't have any trouble winning popularity contests before the war, when they were six years younger, Benge said.

They went to work while Johnny went off to war, and now that he's back, neither the boss nor the boy friend is very happy about having them around, he said.

Benge, who calls himself a humanagement engineer, said a survey of workers had revealed that these women have been left out in the cold, and they know it.

"They're too old to go to college proms, but they are too young to be regarded by employers as stable workers," he said.

The veterans want the company of frivolous young girls, and employers want to give opportunities only to women they are sure will not pick up and leave at the drop of marriage license, he said.

Benge said a survey of the sentiments of women who work in banks gave a good idea about how the girl graduate of 1937 feels about life today.

As long as she stands a chance of becoming an old maid she wants a job with a future as well as security, he said. But she isn't getting it. Instead, her morale is slumping and her work is slipping because men are being promoted to the job she was working for and her salary isn't getting any larger, he said.

As the women's morale falls lower, they begin to nag the boss instead of the husband they might have had, Benge said.

"The women who worked hard during the war are suffering, but in many cases, the businesses are suffering, too, because they are giving opportunities to men who are inferior workers," he said.

"Every worker, man or woman, wants to feel that he belongs to his job, but many women do not belong anywhere. They really want the kind of security they would get from a husband, but they'll take the security of a job with a future, if they can get it."

Galion Council Hears Requests For Bus Lines

GALION—City council today had under consideration two proposed bus services in the Galion area.

At its meeting last night, council granted permission to Eddy L. Rush to met with a council committee which will consider Rush's request for a franchise to operate a public bus service in the city.

Council also referred to City Solicitor F. M. Shumaker a request from John Schill to operate his proposed Galion-Crestline bus service though the city.

Schill is applied to the State Public Utilities commission for permission to operate a bus between the two cities. He first must obtain the council's permission to operate buses through the city to pick up passengers en route to Crestline.

Seek New Patrolman.

Mayor William Amann requested the council to consider the addition of a new patrolman to the Galion police department and to eliminate the position of a regular desk man. No action was taken.

The council passed resolutions to construct two more sanitary sewers in the city. One will be in an alley in the 12th sewer district in the northwest section of the city, and the other will be from the intersection of South Boston and Kroft streets, south on Boston to Hartman street, and east on Hartman for 450 feet.

Other resolutions passed by council included one to grant permission to the Ohio Power company to erect anchor on city-owned property; and another authorizing the sale of machinery and equipment no longer needed by the city, including a mowing machine, farm wagon, automatic washing machine and water softener.

City Building Damaged.

August Schwind, janitor at the City building, entered a complaint to council that members of the Youth center had caused damage to the building. This was referred to Service Director K. A. Poister, who stated that the Youth center already had arranged to pay for the damages.

A motion was made by council to give John Horn 16 to 18 feet of cast iron pipe to run the sewer from his property across Whetstone creek.

Mayor Amann told council that after a conference with industrialists of the city, the installation of an economizer at the municipal light and power plant will be postponed until July when vacations are observed by manufacturing concerns.

Shutdown Necessary.

In order to install the economizer, it would be necessary to have a city-wide factory shutdown because power would be curtailed. The shutdown had been scheduled for several days, beginning this week-end.

It also was explained by Mayor Amann that the city has not enough money at present to begin the addition to City hospital. The lowest bid the city has received for the construction is $225,000. The city has only $175,000 for this work, the mayor said.

Mayor Amann's report of collections for the past month (fines, costs, licenses and forfeitures), totaled $316.

ASHLAND SEEKS WATER SURVEY

ASHLAND—Two firms of consulting engineers will send representatives to Ashland to submit survey proposals on the local water supply problem in the near future.

City Cncil has selected two from among 11 applicants for the job. Both are Columbus firms which have already presented tentative local surveys.

L. D. Ieker, Ashland waterworks superintendent, asked council to obtain services of engineers who also can advise on erection of a building to house additional water supply facilities.

Don Copland, city chemist, said there is an adequate water supply at present but that the city has inadequate facilities for treating the water being used.

Where the city average was 850,000 gallons daily several years ago, the waterworks now operates at a capacity of 1,500,000 gallons daily.

A civic committee headed by Leo Woellog and composed of representatives of civic clubs, service clubs, Parent-Teacher groups, mothers' clubs, business women and others met with council Monday night to urge action on the water supply situation.

NEW LONDON CONSIDERING CIVIC CENTER

Council, School Board Meets To Hear Proposal.

NEW LONDON—Prospect appeared bright today that New London soon might realize a long-felt hope for a combined municipal high school auditorium and civic center.

The proposal had the endorsement of members of both the school board and city council.

School Supt. D. P. Bodenbender, Dr. H. A. Erlenbach, school board president, and R. E. Pierce, board member, discussed the proposal Monday night with members of city council.

The need of a new high school auditorium has been felt here for some years, and a municipal auditorium also is necessary, it was pointed out.

Both the municipal and school groups have adjoining parcels of land available for such a project, which would include an auditorium, city hall, fire engine house and other departments.

Industrial Expansion Seen.

It was pointed out that the project would be in keeping with the industrial expansion program now under way here.

The council also passed an ordinance providing for the improvement of the New London park development, a new residential area being planned on property owned by the village. The property was presented to the village by H. H. Johnson.

The new addition calls for the extension of South Clifton avenue from the George Arpasi home to Grove street.

Wage Hikes Approved.

Council also passed an ordinance providing salary increases for waterworks employes. The wage increases were recommended by the board of public affairs.

Under the new ordinance, Plant Supt. Eugene Funk will receive $3,000 a year, an increase of $500; Asst. Supt. Harold Cooke, $2,500, a $700 increase, and Clerk Jesse Davis will receive $720 a year, an increase of $10 per month.

Board of Evangelical Church Prepares to Rebuild Edifice

GALION—Boyd Martin, Columbus architect, has been employed by the board of trustees of the First Evangelical United Brethren church here to draw up plans for a new building.

The church and the adjoining parsonage was destroyed by fire last Dec. 1, with a loss of more than $85,000.

The new church will be constructed as soon as funds and building materials are available, it was decided by the board.

Insurance on the old church amounted to $25,000, and another $75,000 will be needed for constructing a new church and parsonage.

The church already is off to a good start, having met the $1,000 monthly quota in January, and more than half of the February quota.

Martin was formerly associated with Martin, Orr and Martin, of Columbus, which has designed more than 100 churches. He will be assisted by Berle Ward, an architect representative with 15 years' experience in government service.

The exact location for the new church has not been decided. Sale of the present site will be considered, board members said.
